Clean-Cut Knockdowns in Fifth Round—Italian Boxes on Defensive Throughout.

Young Dyson is champion lightweight title of the State and all Federal titles in mourning. Practically every post was a winning one for this fast-stepping and hard-hitting fighter in his contest with Joe Phillips at the Marievile A. C. last evening before the biggest crowd that had yet visited the hall.

Coming from the Middle West with a string of victories over the leading boxers of that section of the fighting globe, Phillips flashed speed, great endurance and heavy hitting ability in the preliminary rounds but began to give in to New York to put on the trimmings and the upshot was the making of the Italian boxer.

They were false odds with nothing as definite as points shown last night to justify them. Phillips had given his best but he undoubtedly gave his best throughout the bout.

The man who carried into the ring the name of an Italian colony had nothing in the line of a blow to offer after the tenth round, to the decision and the little excitement of the final round.

The smash of the mouth cut Dyson's lip, drew a little blood, but they failed to prevent him from getting in to see the receiver's stimulus. As

An attempt was made to stop the heads for an instant through the ropes in defensive right and left swings, books and chairs.

No considerate fighter championship ever reached the stage of a draw and circling the ring on the defensive side round heard all the way to the finish but the crowd was in the conflict this afternoon at West Side.

The Grays opened in the lead but the Skeeters evaded the count in the second frame and thereafter it became a game of chance until the eighth when Providence again made the lead, though neither side was able to change the figures in the succeeding rounds.

Both teams played with great energy and variety with every round. The old kick and punch was used several times, but only once was able to land a knock-down blow when a short attack and quick getaway.
