

Mays Steals Show as National All-Stars Triumph 5-3

Richardson Fills Role Of Goat in A.L. Loss

By OSCAR FRALEY

Cleveland — (UPI) — Wondrouz Willie Mays saved the 34th All-Star Game from complete dullness yesterday when he knocked home the winning run, set two records, tied another and made the best catch in the National League's 53½ victory over the American League.

The run, which Mays sent home in the fifth inning, was a cheap tally — typical of the ball game — for the Dodgers' Tommy Davis, who came from first to third on an error. But the cheap run counted just the same and the insurance run the Nationals added off the Boston reliever, Dick Radatz, in the eighth stowed the game away.

Those two scores before a disappointing crowd of 44,160 awarded the triumph to the Cubs' Larry Jackson, although he gave up four hits and two runs in two innings as the American Leaguers bombed five National League hurlers for 11 hits.

The defeat was hung on Jim Bunning, although the Detroit pitcher did not give up a hit in two innings.

The Tiger thrower, however, was on the mound that un-lucky fifth which he opened by walking Davis. Once again it was a case of "Oh those bases on balls when with one out the Yankee second baseman, Bobby Richardson, failed to hold a forefoot toss. Davis zoomed toward the plate — but elected to make the play at first while the tie-breaking run scored.

It was, in the end, merely one of those games for the record book, especially for Mays. Wondrouz Willie stole two bases running his All-Star record to 13, and he came up with a record 34th hit in his record 24th All-Star game and getting a record 34th time at bat — for most All-Stars.

It was Willie too, who made the best catch of the game when he can up against the center-field fence and made a long drive by Peppitone in the eighth inning.

N.L.'s 11th Victory

Mays had to be named the star in what was the National League's 15th victory moving them to within one game of the 17 victories, which have been posted by the American one game having ended in a tie.

The goat if the season was the American dropped their seventh game in the last nine All-Star contests, had to be Richardson.

One of the top Yankee heroes in the last World Series, in which he made the last out as the Yankees beat Mays and his Giant teammates Richardson.

son, by his error, set up that gift run which proved the winning run, swatted into a double play which ended the ball game.

It hardly was what could be called All-Star pitching either, as the teams wallowed their way through the first three innings, with the Americans twice battling back and tying it up.

The Nationals jumped into a 1-0 lead in the second when Mays walked and stole second base. Ed Bailey then walked and, after Ken Boyer popped up, Dick Groat singled through the hole, scoring free-wheeling Willie and sending Bailey to second.

Starline Ken McBride got the next two batters, ending the inning.

McBride got that run back himself in the bottom of the second after the Angels' Leon Wagner had singled to left, but stayed there as the next two batters, went down before the National League starter, Jim O'Toole.

Wagner moved to second when Zolito Versalles was hit on the knee. Then McBride slapped a single off Boyer's glove, scoring Wagner and tying it up.

The N.L. bounced right back with two runs in the third. Davis led off with a single off McBride, but was forced by Hank Aaron Hammerin' Hank moved to second when Bill White grounded out to first. Mays then rifled a single to center, scoring Aaron.

Mays' 20th Hit

It was Mays' 20th hit in All-Star play, tying him for the most with Musial. Then Willie ran his own stolen base mark to five by sailing down to second and came home with his second run — and record 15th — on Bailey's single to center for the 3-1 National lead.

The Americans bounced back again as Jackson took over the pitching chore for the Nats.

Little Albie Pearson came up with a leadoff double, his second straight hit, and with one away, scored on a single to left by Frank Malone of the Red Sox, whose wife gave birth to their third son yesterday morning.

Wagner sacrificed Malone to second and it paid off when Earl Batiste singled to center, which ran that tie to 3-3.

The American Leaguers gave it away in the top of the fifth when Bunning walked Davis and, with one out, Malone tried for the force at second base on White's groundout.

The ball streaked toward Richardson and Davis sped on to third. That's when Mays smashed the ball down to Peppitone at first and that tied it at 3-3.

Davis had a good chance to nail Davis at the plate. He hesitated momentarily, but then went for the Yankees' best Mays and his Giant teammates Richardson.

Quinn Favored to Retain Title as R.I. Golf Opens

Ronnie Quinn of West Warwick starts a bid for a third straight title in the 1963 National Public Links Golf Championship, Tourney this morning at Agawam Hunt.

The long-limbed lawyer who first took the championship in 1962 and repeated last year, is favored to make a successful defense of his title against the challenge of 118 title hopefuls.

His rivals for the crown include his 18-year-old nephew, Bruce Morin, whom Ronnie defeated in the final round last year at R.I. Country Club.

Quinn, who won both the R.I. and New England amateur crowns last year, hopes to make the same twin strikes this season. He will defend his N.E. title at the Bear Burn Country Club, Newton, Mass., July 22.

The first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round will be played today and the second round tomorrow. The 32 low scorers will qualify for match play that starts Friday morning. Two rounds will be played both Friday and Saturday and the 36-hole final on Sunday.

Today to tee off at 8:30 a.m. will be George Kirkpatrick, a tennis competitor before turning to golf. He is in a three-way tie with Walker Mearns of Wampanoag and Norm Greene of Metacomb.

Quinn tees off at 10:01 a.m. with Marcus Munsell of the home club and Joe Perry, State Public Links utility, as his playing partners. Morin, who is partnered with George Kilborn of the home club and Joe Sprague of Triggs, starts at 10:22 o'clock.

Four former titlists are in the field besides Quinn. Brad O'Neil, a Metacomb and Angelo Santilli of Potowomut, like Ronnie, are two-time champions. O'Neil won in 1958 and 1962 and Santilli's triumphs came in 1955 and 1961. O'Neil was runner-up twice, losing in the 1951 final to Tommy Talier and in the 1957 final to Bob Kotken. Santilli also was runner-up in 1956.

The two other ex-titlists seeking another triumph are Fred Campanelli and Al Faenza of Metacomb.

Calif. Golfer Captures Public Links Medal

Sacramento, Calif. — (API) — John Joseph, a 20-year-old from Hayward, Calif., who lost to Dick Sikes in the quarterfinals of the 1962 National Public Links Golf Championship, yesterday fired a 71 to go to Monday's 70 and win medalist honors at the 1963 Public Links Tournament.

Sikes, the favorite and Public Links Champion the past two years, was four strokes back in the final round, which runs today through Saturday.

Joseph, who lost to Sikes last year, overcame three bogies and a double bogey in yesterday's round.

In regional qualifying, he had not been good enough to make the San Francisco squad for team play.

Leroy, Beatty of McQuigg, Texas, the first-day leader at 69, bogied the 18th hole for a 73 and a two-day total of 142 over the heavily treed 6,702-yard course.

Tom Randall, a New Orleans golfer who could double on professional Paul Harvey, caught a 69, thanks to five birdies on the first nine holes for the day's best score. He had a 146 total.

Bud Bradley of Los Angeles dropped in a 12-foot chip shot for a birdie on the par-3 eighth hole and wedged in from 40 feet for a bird on the 450-yard 18th. He was third at 71-72-143.

Dan Scott of Seattle and Hubert Farmer of Toledo tied at 144, and Leonard Flocia, from Macomb, Ill., deadlocked with Sikes.

Farmer's steady play helped Toledo to the team championship. Toledo had a three-stroke margin over second-place Long Beach, Calif.

Houk Defends Joe Peppitone On Debatable Play at First

Cleveland — (API) — "If I'd made the right decision, 'He made the right decision,' the Yankee skipper declared.

"I'm not sure we could have got the man at home," Houk said. "If we don't get him, they go for a big inning."

Bobby Richardson, the Yankee second baseman, who hit into two double plays and made an error when the NL went ahead, was trying to explain what happened on the miscue in the fifth inning.

"Frank Malone's throw was over the bag and it dropped out of my glove," Richardson said. "Unless you play baseball, you can't understand what a difficult play it is, though. I was all the way over to the other side for a left-handed pull hitter, Bill White. It was a long run and a close play."

Malone said he hesitated momentarily to give Richardson a chance to reach the bag for the force on Davis, but thought it was a wise move to throw to second.

"I wanted to get that man retired at second because Mays was coming up next," Malone said.

Radatz' Comment

Dick Radatz, Boston's fireballing relief pitcher, said he didn't throw very hard, although he struck out five men in two innings. He also gave up a run.

"I was changing speeds more than usual," he big hurler said. "I throw sliders for strikes and struck out Mays and Snider."

Faenza Takes Amateur Golf Medal With 147

Quinn, Exempt From Qualifying, Has Lowest Card—141

Ronnie Quinn

By BARNEY MADDEN
Journal-Bulletin Staff Writer

Faenza, who was not competing for the medal, played the two-day qualifying round in the Rhode Island Amateur Golf Championship at Agawam Hunt. Match play starts today, continuing through Sunday.

Faenza added a 73 yesterday to his opening round 72 for 147, one stroke better than the score furnished by Dick Stimets of Pawtucket.

Actually, the scoring leader for the 36 holes was the defending champion, Ronnie Quinn of West Warwick, who was not competing for the medal. As reigning champion, Quinn did not have to qualify, but played both days, firing rounds of 71 and 70 for a 141 total.

Faenza had his troubles and his triumphs yesterday. He was even par for the first eight holes, but at the ninth he went two over after having batted his tee shot into the woods and his next into a trap. From there on he was hot and cold.

He parred the 10th, went two over on the 11th, where he hit his approach over the green and his third into a trap. He caught a ditch at the 12th and went two over again. He birdied the 13th, parred the 14th, missed two wood shots for a hole at the 15th but birdied the 16th by canning a six-footer. A par and bogie followed, and he was home in 38 for his 141 total.

Quinn played well most of the way, but on the back nine did some spraying. He played out of length on the 12th and accuracy successive brooks at the 13th with approaches enabled him to win six strokes off his first-round score.

The birdies

He birdied the fourth, by sinking a trap shot, the fifth and the 10th, the 10th by sinking a 15-footer.

The heavy rough and the meandering brooks once again caused the overall scoring to mount, the qualifying cutoff coming at 159, where six players were tied for the last three places.

Involved in the playoff were Bill Sampson of Pawtucket, Ralph Perry of Triggs, Gil Galsbury of Woonsocket, Tony Melucci of Pawtucket, Don Galsbury of Valley and Don McKel of Pawtucket.

Yank Ford Wins 10th Game in Row

Los Angeles — (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels scored a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees in the 10th game of the American League playoffs.

An error by left fielder Hector Lopez and a passed ball by Howard set up two unearned runs for the Angels in the fourth.

Charley Dees, leading off, was hit by a pitch and Ed Sadowski followed with a single. Dees took third and Sadowski went to second as Lopez fumbled the ball. Dees scored on a sacrifice fly by pitcher Dan Oatis and Sadowski came home on an infield hit by Jim Fregosi after the passed ball.

With one out in the New York sixth, John Blanchard walked and Lopez tied it with his ninth homer, a line drive into the left-field seats.

Right-hander Hal Renitt took over for Ford in the 10th and retired the Angels in order.

Julio Navarro, the Angels' fourth pitcher, suffered his third straight loss. He got the first two Yankees in the 10th but was out of the game after two innings.

West Jordan, Utah—(AP)— Another postponement, until Aug. 10, was announced yesterday for the midweight fight between Tiger of Nigeria and Fulmer of West Jordan, Utah, former champion.

Fulmer's manager, Mary Jensen, said he had talked by telephone with the British promoter, Jack Solomons, and had guaranteed Fulmer would leave here July 27 for Baghdad, Nigeria, and would fight there Aug. 10.

The fight originally had been postponed for July 15, but was postponed until July 27 when Fulmer injured his foot in a road workout.

"We informed Solomons that Gene is unable to fight until Aug. 10 because of his injury," Jensen said. "He will fight in August and will leave for Nigeria July 27," Jensen said.

A player's slugging percentage is determined by dividing the total hits at bat by the total bases of all safe hits.

Monbo Blanks Twins, 2-0, on 3-Hitter

Bosox' Star Pitcher Chalks Up His 12th

Minneapolis, Minn. — (AP) — Boston's left-hander, Monboquette, blanked the Minnesota Twins, 2-0, on a three-hitter last night.

Monboquette, who registered his first shutout of the season in bringing his record to 15-6, permitted only one runner, a double by Everett and a single by Roman Mejias.

Stigman cooled off the Sox Yankees, who went hitless in four at-bats. Yastrzemski, who had an average of .261 a month ago, had gone into last night's game with a .337 average.

Last night's game was the second for the Sox on their current road trip. The teams play here again tonight, with Dave Morehead facing Jim (Son) facing Jim (Son).

Stigman pitched only two hits, besides Talamas' sixth homer and Blass' 12th. Stigman struck out eight, walked one and now is 7-0. He left for a rough hit in the eighth and Ray Moore struck out the side in the ninth.

Monboquette had only one home run in the seventh. Jim Hall led off with a single and went to second on a ground out. Carl Yastrzemski made a fine diving catch of Rich Bell just sinking liner with two out and prevented a run.

The two other hits of Monboquette, besides the one by Hall, were by Harmon Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles. Monboquette had lost in his last two appearances, but was in relief: His last previous victory had been posted June 24 in the first game of a double-header with the Cleveland Indians. Mets Lose 12th in Row, to L.A., Despite 2 Homers by Gonder

New York — (UPI) — Jesse Gonder clipped Don Drysdale for a pair of home runs last night but the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers capitalized on errors by two of their teammates and registered a 4-3 victory over the New York Mets.

The loss was the Mets' 12th consecutive. Drysdale, who pitched seven innings before tiring and giving away to reliever Ron Perranoski, allowed six hits and struck out seven in registering his 11th victory.

The victory was the fourth straight for the onrushing Dodgers and their ninth in the 12th game.

It was a rough night for three ex-Dodgers—Pitcher Roger Craig, who suffered his 12th straight defeat and 14th of the season, and for first-baseman Tim Lincecum and right-fielder Duke Snider, whose fourth-inning errors put the Dodgers in front to stay.

The fourth was a typical Met inning. In that one, the Dodgers scored three runs on two errors, three singles and a sacrifice fly.

Jim Gilliam was safe on Harkness' miscue and Wally Moon followed with a single. Snider made three grabs at Moon's safety before finally coming up with the ball, converting it into a two-base error that scored Gilliam.

Moon held third base as Tommy Davis beat out an infield smash but scored on a single by Ron Fairly, who had homered with the bases empty in the second. Ken McMullen's sacrifice fly brought in Davis from third base with the Dodgers' third run of the inning, and that turned out to be the winning run.

Gonder connected for his fourth homer of the season and his first as a Met with one in the third inning and then hit his fifth homer with the bases empty in the sixth for the Mets' final run.

Perranoski was picked for two out-singles by pitcher-hitter Rod Kanehl and Jim Hickman.

Bolero Reported Leading Ocean Race to England

New York — (AP) — The Coast Guard did not receive any reports on the race from Newport to Plymouth, England, yesterday, but consideration of two delayed reports indicated that Mrs. Sally Ames Langmuir's 23-foot sloop, Bolero, was the probable leader.

The reports came from the American "Bartlett Line" Atlantic, and on earlier reports that listed the location of two Class A yachts, Sumner A. Long's Onslow and Clayton Fawcett's Dyna, as of Wednesday.

Folger, the scratch boat from Los Angeles, was 1,540 miles from Newport and 135 miles northward of the Coast Guard weather ship Buane, at last report Wednesday.

Dyna had been about 80 miles behind last position some eight hours earlier. The scratcher's reports indicated that more than 40 miles of water separate the Bolero and the trailing vessels.

The race, covering 2,864 miles, started 11 days ago.

Los Angeles' pitcher, Don Drysdale, pitched a 10-inning game, allowing only one run, one hit and one error.

300th Triumph Finally Comes to Early Wynn

Kansas City Mo. — (UPI) — Early Wynn, the oldest player in baseball, won the 300th victory for the Cleveland Indians over the Kansas City Athletics in the second game of a doubleheader.

The Athletics had won the first game, 6-5.

Wynn, who celebrated his 43rd birthday Jan. 6, pitched the first five innings before leaving the game for a pinch-hitter. He held the Athletics to two hits, one of them George Alukis' eighth home run, before they shelled him for three of the Chicago White Sox. He runs on four hits in the fifth inning and narrowed the Indians' lead to 3-4.

The victory gave Wynn the distinction of being the 14th pitcher in the history of baseball to win 300 games. The only other active pitcher who has reached that milestone is Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves, who has won 339.

Wynn, whom the Indians signed as a free agent last season, had made seven previous attempts to win No. 300. Three of the attempts were made last year as a member of the Chicago White Sox. He had posted his 299th last Sept. 11.

While boosting his record to 300-243 for a 23-year career in the American League, Wynn set a record yesterday when he walked three consecutive batters in the second inning. The last of three walks issued to Joe Adcock's two-run single, which permitted Wynn to score the go-ahead run. The Indians added two runs on a walk to John Romano and Al Luplow's single.

The Indians added a run in the seventh and ninth innings.

The A's three runs in the fifth inning were scored this way:

Ken Harrelson, Gino Cimoli and Jose Tartabull singled, loading the bases. Jerry Lumpe then hit a single, and a double by Willie Kirkland accounted for the Indians' final run, in the ninth, in which he tripled and scored on Ed Cox's sacrifice fly.

Jerry Walker, who relieved Wynn, blanked the Athletics over the last four innings.

In the opener, the A's Norm Siebern singled home the winning run with his third hit of the game. Jack Kralick was the loser. His record is now 17-14.

Reliever John Wyatt was credited with the victory.

Kansas City's Ed Charles belted his sixth homer, in the first with two on. In the eighth, Jerry Lumpe slugged another homer for the A's.

A tough, hard-bitten native of Hartford, Ala., Wynn started out his big-league career with the dismal Washington Senators in 1939 and never reached the 500-mark until his 11th season. That was in 1951, when he posted a 20-13 record for the Cleveland Indians, the first of five 20-game seasons he enjoyed in the majors.

Sprague, McBride Reach R.I. Golf Final

Tense gallery watches as Joe Sprague chips from the rough near the Agawam Hunt's 18th green in his thrilling semi-final match with Marcus Munsell in the Rhode Island Amateur Golf Tourney.

Duel for Crown Set Today at Agawam Hunt

Triumphant in stirring semi-final matches yesterday afternoon, Joe Sprague of Triggs Memorial and Frank McBride of the Rhode Island Country Club will clash today over the 36-hole route for the amateur golf championship of Rhode Island at the Agawam Hunt.

Yesterday while a swelling milling gallery followed them, Sprague outlasted Marcus Munsell of Agawam 1-up in a scoring duel replete with daring shots and remarkable recoveries. Meanwhile, McBride won, also 1-up, from young Bobby Pitta of Wampanoag in a battle that kept a smaller but no less enthusiastic gallery in high excitement from start to finish.

Sprague and Munsell, with their recovery shots thrilling the spectators, had to go to the home hole before Sprague's run-up in the State Public Links (Champlin) Tourney could settle the issue.

McBride trailing from a two-down situation after nine holes, gained his momentum, made one hole at the 17th and then had to offset Pitta's courageous par at the 18th for his victory.

Consequently, McBride, a finalist in 1954 when he lost to Al Farnes of Metacombet and Sprague, a first-time finalist, will battle over the 36-hole championship distance today, starting the first 18 at 10 a.m. and the second at 2 o'clock this afternoon. In view of the state yesterday, as well as throughout the tournament, they are expected to wage a memorable struggle.

Yesterday morning in the quarterfinals Sprague scored a 3 and 2 decision over Lou DiLauro of Valley while Munsell was winning 6 and 4 over Bill Triggs.

McBride's quarterfinal triumph was over Walt Hodge of Louisiana State University. Triggs 6 and 5, while Pitta 6 and 4 from Joe Triggs, the public links champion.

Sprague and Munsell went to the turn all even. The Triggs, the first of Rhode Island's top scholars, taking 17 strokes, one less than the Agawam are, made his par-7 hole a 4, and then a 5, and a 6, and a 7, and a 8, and a 9, and a 10, and a 11, Sprague, McBride in R.I. Golf Final Interested spectator is Joe Sprague as he watches, cigarette in mouth, while his opponent, Marcus Munsill, puts on the 15th green at the Agawam Hunt in their close semifinal dual in the Rhode Island Amateur Golf Tourney. Sprague won yesterday afternoon match, 1 up.

was back where it started, all short whereas Sprague fired a grand shot, two feet from the hole and, when Marc missed, Joe was home free.
Sprague, out in 51, came back in 35 and Marc was two shots higher.
McBride and Fitts had all kinds of trouble getting them selves organized. Bobby played the front nine in 40 strokes, but McBride, erratic with long shots and victim of putting lapses, missed the 12th while Bobby was missing the green with his tee shot. He chipped stiff to the pin for another par at the 13th, repeated at the 14th and again missed a two-hole lead with a bogie at the 15th, where Bobby was first trapped and then three-putted.
Fitts wasn't done yet. He parred the 16th and won it as Frank trapped the tee shot and then missed a four-foot putt. They parred the 17th in regulation fashion, but the 18th was something else again.

Then, with electrifying recovery and long putts, they matched each other for four straight holes before Sprague took the lead — for the first time — with a cutting 30-footer at the 14th. An even more splendid display of golfing, courage enabled Sprague to halve the 15th. Munsill played the hole in flawless fashion, but Joe didn't — until the end. He fired his second over the green and under some bushes. His third, a shot on which he had barely room to swing, added again to the green again but, with Marc in position for a four, Sprague putted from off the green, some 25 feet from the cup, and in it went. That made Munsill's putt look longer than the Maine turpentine, but he capped it home.
Superlative Trap Shot
A superlative trap shot at the 16th gave Munsill a winning three — and squared the match — and they halved the 17th. Then, at the 18th, Sprague was in the rough just off the green in two, but Munsill had to play a safety shot from the right rough, because of a very bad lie. His third, a pitch, fell

McBride played it just right, but Fitts drove into the rough, had to play out safely and then fired a terrific third shot, three feet from the stick. He got his four, but McBride, undaunted, trapped his first putt up three feet from the pin and then holed out, setting up a final match between himself and his frequent line companion, Sprague. It should be a thriller. Both are good hitters, both are sharp under the green and both are superlative putters.

Cobra-Sting Ray Duel Set up at Thompson

The first Cobra-Sting Ray duel to be seen at Thompson Raceway will highlight the feature sports-car races at the Connecticut course today.
Seven races are scheduled for the meet, which runs toward the Northeastern Divisional Championship of the Sports Car Club of America. The first event begins at 2 p.m.
Both the Cobra and the 'Ray are in Class A Production, even though the latter has a larger displacement engine. Powered by a highly modified Ford Fairlane V-8 the Cobra has extreme light body and running gear by AC Bristol of England, and is assembled in California. The Sting Ray, of course, is Chevrolet's latest version of the Corvette.
Driving the Cobra will be Bob Brown of Old Westbury, N.Y., who won his first SCCA National on June 15 at Lime Rock in the same car, beating a Sting Ray driven by one of the nation's most capable and experienced "Corvette drivers" — The Dick Thompson of Washington, D.C. Brown has little experience at Thompson, however, and will be up against John Calley of North Haven, Mass., who has many a local season under his belt, and twice silver Ray roadster ran away from everyone at the Thompson opener in May.
Other Corvettes will be driven by Allyn Wylie, Martin Krone, Clarence Seifeld and Harry Scarsett — all of New York and New Jersey, and Fred Darling of Seabrook.

R.I. Swimmers Take 3 Events At Worcester

Swimmers won three events yesterday at the third annual Worcester Aquarama at Holland Pool.
Diane Thomson of the Fox Point Boys' Club Auxiliary won the women's 100-meter breaststroke. Bob Nelson of the Cranston Swim Club won the men's open 200-meter individual medley and Jon Hakanson of the Rhode Island Aquatic Association was first in the 50-meter freestyle for boys 10 and under.
The events in which Rhode Islanders placed:
Men's 100-meter breaststroke — 1. Bob Darling, Worcester Aquarama; 2. John Calley, North Haven, Mass.; 3. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 4. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 5. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club.
Women's 100-meter breaststroke — 1. Diane Thomson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 2. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 3. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 4. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 5. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club.
Men's 200-meter individual medley — 1. Bob Nelson, Cranston Swim Club; 2. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 3. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 4. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 5. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club.
Boys' 50-meter freestyle — 1. Jon Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 2. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 3. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 4. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club; 5. John Hakanson, Fox Point Boys' Club.

23 Softball Teams File Entries for Tourney Here

Ken Jackson, Rhode Island The Rhode Island champion, A.S.A. softball commissioner, has received 23 entries in the World Industrial State Pitch Softball Tourney to be staged in Rhode Island Aug. 30 through Sept. 2.

Virginia, North Carolina, Indiana, New York, Minnesota, Milwaukee, Kentucky, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Pennsylvania, and Ohio are set for participation.

In addition to teams representing states the A.S.A. system of distributing will allow some states to have additional representation (in kind) and state titles as well as championship teams from Cleveland, Toledo and Cincinnati. The Indianapolis title will be on hand as well as the Indiana champion.

In New England, Massachusetts will have a state champ participating as well as the Boston Metropolitan leaders. In New York, the state's No. 1 team will be accompanied by the New York City title plus the No. 1 team in Rochester.

Don Porter, executive secretary of the Amateur Softball Association of America indicated yesterday that the heavy entry list this early indicates that Providence may play host to the biggest single-city event in history. Jackson predicts a field of 35 teams and some 600 players.

Local 57's Engineers Field will be the main park to be used for the event. Cranston Stadium, Narragansett, in Central Falls and the City of Warwick's new floodlit park also will handle contests.

The WPRO team, which participated in the 1962 World Industrial Tournament at Pittsburgh, will be the host club.

Seekonk Feature Won by Sprague

The favorite, Bobby Sprague of Foxboro, scored his third feature victory of the season in taking the 15-lap sportsman-stroke race last night at the Seekonk Speedway before a crowd of 7,800.

Sprague, who started in 19th position in the field of 24 qualifiers, took over the lead on the 15th lap and was never headed thereafter.
Rex Reddy of Fall River led for the first four laps and Duke Astle of North Weymouth was out front for the next 11 laps before finishing second behind Sprague. Fred Astle was third and Billy Clarke of Seekonk fourth.
Several cars were forced out of the race by collisions on the first two laps because of a wet track from a brief rain shower. The 15-lap race for novice drivers was won by Ray Loveless of Providence.
