

Campanelli Leading in R.I. Amateur Golf

Posts 70 for 1st 18 Holes Of the Qualifying Round

By MICHAEL J. THOMAS
Fred Campanelli of Metacom, who first won prominence in the game as a caddy and schoolboy and went on and won the State Amateur Golf Championship in 1948, may be on his way to a second reign as the state title.

The 45-year-old former caddy, now an executive of an optical company, matched par of 70 and took the lead on the first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round yesterday at Metacom Country Club in East Providence.

Playing a precision game in the process of hitting 14 greens in regulation, Campanelli finished one shot ahead of the 21-year-old title contender, Gil Gonzalez of Wampanoag, who supplied the spectators with a real treat of long hitting while firing a 71.

Long after the final shots had been fired by the 128 title aspirants, spectators were still discussing the prodigious tee shot of 300 yards or more that the husky Gonzalez fired on the 355-yard final hole.

His long belt left the East Providence High School graduate with but a No. 9 iron ready to the green and he easily holed a four-foot putt for a spectacular closing birdie-three.

Left in a precarious position after the first half of the medal test was Ronnie Quinn of West Warwick. The No. 1 choice of many to win the title being defended by Frank McBride of R.I. Country Club.

After he had toured the first nine in a remarkable one-under-par 35, it appeared that Quinn, who a fortnight ago scored an impressive triumph in the Northeast Invitational Tournament, was headed toward a spectacular round. However, he ran into assorted difficulties, including some heavy misfortune on the way home and he ended up 42 strokes for a 77.

With 32 in the field of 128 scoring 77 or better, it could be that the West Warwick bracer, one of the better amateur players in the East, will have to improve on his opening round to qualify for match play in the state's premier golf tournament, which runs through Sunday.

Indications are it will take a score of 154 or better to win one of the 32 qualifying berths. However, since scoring normally runs higher on the second day of qualifying, it may be that 155 or 156 will be good enough.

Spague, however, is no position to take chances, and he probably will have to fire a 75 or 76 to be on the safe side.

36-37 in his satisfactory round, while firing a 71.

"I made a couple of putts and missed a couple," was the way the popular Angie described his round.

The others with 73s were Dino Gargiulo of Quiddesset, Don Guilbault of Valley and Dick Stimata of Pawtucket. Gargiulo, missing several hole-in-one attempts on the first nine, was 36-37. The long-hitting Guilbault, semi-finalist two years ago, reversed this process with 37-36. Stimata, one of the state's most improved players and a definite title threat, was at his best in posting a 35 on the second nine after having gone out in 38.

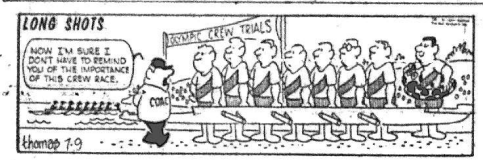

Tied at 74 were two of the younger threats from West Warwick — Pat DiPadua, captain-elect of the Providence College golf team, and Bruce Morin, sophomore at University of Rhode Island, and runner-up to his uncle, Quinn, in this tourney two years ago.

Among the Leaders: Frank McBride (left) and Angie Santilli chat about the tough shots after first day of qualifying. McBride posted a 72; Santilli a 73.

Mays' 3-Run HR Gives Giants Split With Cubs

Chicago (AP)—Willie Mays shoddy San Francisco base runner, slammed a three-run homer as the San Francisco Giants ended their longest losing streak of the season at four games by beating the Chicago Cubs, 7-2, in the second game of a double-header called after seven innings because of darkness.

The Cubs won the opener, 5-0, on Bob Buhl's four-hit pitching before the largest crowd of the season at Wrigley Field, 30,158.

The split kept the second-place Giants 1½ games back of the National League leading Philadelphia Phillies, who game with St. Louis was rained out.

Mays' homer in the second inning of the nightcap gave him a league-leading total of 24 and 58 runs batted-in.

Overcast skies hastened dusk in lightless Wrigley Field, but before the Giants struck for five runs and six hits in the first two innings against Ernie Broglio, Ron Harbin, now 74, got the victory. Broglio is 3-2.

In the opener, Buhl benefited from a 10-hit Cub attack that included a homer, double and single by Billy Williams, who had been in a prolonged slump. The Cub's first run, off Bob Hendley, was scored in the first on Joe Amalfitano's double, a sacrifice and Ron Santo's single. Buhl also benefited from trying to make third on Del Crandall's boulder to short.

Campanelli Wins Medal in R.I. Amateur

Fred's 144 Edges Gonsalves by Two

Stimets, Quinn, McCullough Round Out Top Five

Winner's reward is received by Fred Campanelli from wife, Ann, after he posted 144 for medal in State Amateur Golf Championship.

By MICHAEL J. THOMAS
Fred Campanelli of the home club, whose strength in the past has been at match play, showed his mettle with card and pencil strokes yesterday as he won the medal with a 36-hole score of 144 in the State Amateur Golf Championship yesterday at Metacomet Country Club in East Providence.

The 45-year-old Campanelli, champion in 1948 and winner of the state eddy and schoolboy crowns before he ascended to the amateur title, had been the first-round leader with a par-equaling 70 on Wednesday. Then yesterday, despite the rain, he posted a 74 and paced the pack of 129 challengers for the crown being defended by Frank McBride of R.I. Country Club.

As the defending titlist, McBride automatically qualified for match play in the title competition, which starts this morning and runs through Sunday.

McBride played a full round in posting a 72 on Wednesday, but he limited his play to 13 holes yesterday because of the day-long rain. Sprague of Agawam Hunt after it appeared he had tossed away his chances of reaching match play with an 84 on the first round. Munstl, semifinalist last year, fired shots with the precision of a big-time pro in his round yesterday. A former football player at Williams College, Munstl was determined to make the grade and he just made it with the qualifying deadline falling at 127.

Also making it with 157 was Charley Palmer of Warwick, president of the R. I. Golf Association.

There wasn't much point in his playing any further after the draw, drew as his first-round opponent Paul Butler, former state junior titlist who qualified with rounds of 75-79.

Campanelli, who scrambled to his 74 in contrast to his precision shotmaking on the first 18 holes, finished two shots ahead of young Gil Gonsalves of Woonamontauk. The 21-year-old Gonsalves, playing in sneakers despite the rain and soaked fairways, added a 75 to his opening 71 for 146.

Gonsalves, whose acquaintance with golf started at an early age and at a time his father was a greenskeeper in Bermuda, appeared on his way to the medal until he suddenly lost his touch, probably of nervousness on the final three holes.

A 5-6 finish, four strokes over par, cost him his chance of leading the field. He needed four shots to reach the green at the relatively easy 15th, ran into a contest with trees as a result of a hooked tee shot at the 17th and hit the hole on the 18th, where he had the previous day had posted a spectacular birdie.

Gonsalves admitted he played it safe on the occasions that he sprayed shots and it was this timidity, probably more than any other factor, that cost him the chance for the medal.

"I went for bogies rather than gambles for pars when I was off like," he said.

This was in decided contrast to the bold game he played in firing a 71 on Wednesday.

However, Gonsalves did well enough as it was and he looks as a distinct title threat.

Quinn Has 73
Dick Stimets, dark-horse contender from Pawtucket, placed fourth with rounds of 73-75 and next to him with 77-73-149 were Ronnie Quinn of West Warwick and young Jim McCullough of Woonamontauk.

Quinn, the No. 1 choice of many to win the crown a third time, has been in danger of not qualifying after his opening 77. But he showed championship form yesterday, a day that hardly was conducive to low scoring. McCullough, finally playing in competition the kind of game of which he has long appeared capable, was the superb shotmaker in posting his 72. Like Quinn, he was 77 on Wednesday.

One of the finest feats of the qualifying play was the 73 turned in yesterday by Marcus Munstl of Agawam Hunt after it appeared he had tossed away his chances of reaching match play with an 84 on the first round.

Wickersham Beats Bosox, 4-3, for His 12th Victory

Detroit — (UPI) — Dave Wickersham last night became the winning pitcher in the American League by hurling the Detroit Tigers to a 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox for his 12th triumph of the season.

Wickersham gave up eight hits, including six singles, and two home runs by Lee Thomas, before being relieved with two out in the ninth inning by Larry Sherry. Sherry came on with the tying run on first base and walked Russ Nixon, before getting pinch-hitter Dick Williams to ground out, ending the game.

The two homers by Thomas accounted for all of Boston's runs.

The Tigers scored two runs in the first inning off losing pitcher Wickersham (3-8) before Wickersham with all the runs he needed to win. Norm Cash knocked in one run with a blood double and Bill Freehan scored the other on a sacrifice fly.

Gates Brown hit his eighth homer in the third, Dick McAuliffe and George Thomas singled in the sixth in accounting for the Tigers' final run.

Wickersham now has won as many games as he did last season, when he was with Kansas City. He was 12-15 there, finishing with 12-15 this year.

Still another surprising development was the advance to the round of eight by Bob Licciardi of West Warwick, one-time caddy for Lieut. Gov. Edward Gallaghy, a late spectator at the matches yesterday. The 27-year-old Licciardi, who served with the Army in Germany at the time of the Berlin airlift, survived two close matches against foes from his end of the state.

Philadelphia — (AP) — Frank Robinson hit a two-run homer and Deron Johnson drove in two runs with a homer and a double, powering Cincinnati to a 5-1 victory over the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies last night.

The loss snapped the Phillies' five-game winning streak and trimmed their lead to one-half game over the San Francisco Giants, who defeated Chicago, 10-3.

Eagle Turns Back Constellation For 10th Straight in Cup Trials

By DAVE PHILIPS

American Eagle, ripped spinnaker and all, kept her record clean in the observation trials for America's Cup defense. Constellation of Newport yesterday.

She beat Constellation by 30 seconds over a 20-mile course on Rhode Island Sound for her third victory in the current series. American Eagle now has won 10 in a row since she started racing in early June.

Constellation had won her three previous races in the current series.

In the other race yesterday, Nefertiti trounced Columbiad by five minutes and 24 seconds over the same course. Columbiad, which has lost three races in this series, all by large margins, made another bad start and was never a factor.

The pairings for today's races will be exactly the same. American Eagle against Constellation and Columbiad against Nefertiti.

Originally American Eagle was to have raced Nefertiti and Easterner was to have raced Columbiad.

However, last night Chandler Hovey, Easterner's owner told the New York Yacht Club race committee that repairs to Easterner's coffee-grinder winches could not be made in time for her to race today.

The race committee waited almost two hours near the Brenton Reef Light Tower, expecting the wind to shift from south to south-west. When the wind remained steady, the committee set the signals for a windward-leeward twice-around course, with each leg being five miles long.

He huffed up three and a half minutes before the starting gun and kept Constellation from getting the weather berth.

Then, when both boats bore off, American Eagle was in position to give Constellation a dose of backwind, forcing the other boat to tack immediately after she had cleared the starting line.

American Eagle covered the tack promptly and for the whole first leg Cox kept Constellation pinned down under his lee.

Constellation's skipper, Eric Ridder, made 16 tacks on that leg, trying to break clear, but American Eagle covered every one and had walked out to a lead of one minute and three seconds at the mark.

Running downwind, Ridder started a jibing duel but American Eagle matched Constellation in that exchange and added five seconds to her lead.

Constellation's crew had expected the breeze to pipe up a lot more than it did on the first weather leg and had set up a heavy-weather groms jib, which didn't do the boat much good.

For the second leg upwind Constellation carried a lighter much more effective jib and in a fluctuating breeze she won down Eagle's lead to 36 seconds.

American Eagle's spinnaker caught on a bank of the jib and tore about 10 feet above the foot as it was being hoisted for the next home.

In a heavier breeze, that spinnaker might have ripped all the way across, as Nefertiti's did in her race with Easterner Friday. But luck was riding with American Eagle yesterday.

The wind didn't freshen. The tear went enlarged and American Eagle's sail all the way to the finish.

Ridder had elected to reach off wide of the course, jibe and reach in again. For a while this looked like a good move but when two boats converged, American Eagle, which

World-Record Stripper Caught Off Narragansett

A 664-pound striped bass, which betters the world record for that species taken on a 20-pound test line, was caught yesterday off Narragansett Pier by Jim Patterson of New Jersey.

Patterson must submit his line for a testing to the International Game Fish Association before the catch can be ratified as a record.

The United record for a "striper" on a 20-pound line is a 39-pounder taken by Antonio Berghem at Point Judith in October, 1938.

Now, on to Tokyo: The Vesper Boat Club's crew slashes home first by a length in the final of the U.S. Olympic rowing trials at New York. The Philadelphia eight just won the right to represent the United

22-Year Old Star Faces Campanelli For Crown Today

By MICHAEL J. THOMAS

Stan Abrams of the home match will be a duel between club, 22-year-old scholar-athlete who was graduated cum laude from Harvard last month.

Campanelli, a former football player at Providence College, put it.

"Campanelli took Stan in hand and helped him with his game when Stan first came to Metacomet seven years ago," said Ben, who naturally was elated at his son's advance to within one match of becoming the state titlist. This, for sure, is a match between teacher and student.

Abrams, who was an honor student and a three-letter man at Tufts in Pawtucket before entering Harvard, said, "Campanelli taught me a lot of the shots that figured in my success today."

Reds Score 3 In 6th and Pin Bunning, Phils

Philadelphia—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds cut loose for three runs in the sixth inning and beat Jim "Perfect Game" Bunning and the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-1 yesterday.

The loss shaved the Phillies' National League lead to one percentage point over San Francisco, who beat Chicago, 7-0.

Lefty Joe Nuxhall and reliever Sam Rice held the Phils to five hits. Nuxhall and Bunning hooked up in a scoreless duel until the Reds struck in the sixth.

They scored on singles by Frank Robinson, Vada Pinson, and John Edwards. Reds catcher, who beat Chicago, 7-0.

Both Nuxhall, now 7-4, and Bunning, who lost his first game since his perfect no-hit performance in New York three weeks ago, were soaked by perspiration by the fourth inning as the temperature hovered in the 90s.

Bunning now is 9-3. Nuxhall was in charge completely. He allowed only three hits, struck out six and walked one. He left the game because

Tigers' Sparma Slaps 8-1 Defeat on Bosox

Detroit—(AP)—Bookie Joe Sparma set Boston down on a wild pitch after rain had delayed the game for 23 minutes and went to third as Carl Yastrzemski grounded out. Yastrzemski singled and went to second on a wild pitch in the ninth.

After Jones reached third in the opening inning, Sparma, the former Ohio State multi-sport star, who entered the game with a glittering 0.75 earned run average, struck out Dick Stuart, ending the inning.

Yastrzemski got two of Boston's five hits. Tiltman, who homered, leading off the seventh.

Campanelli Wins State Amateur Golf Ex-Champ Beats Abrams, 6 and 5

By HARNEY MADDEN
Journal Sports Editor

After a wait of 16 years, Fred Campanelli of Metosmet regained the Rhode Island amateur golf championship yesterday, defeating his youthful clubmate, Stan Abrams, 6 and 5, in their scheduled 18-hole final at Metosmet.

In gaining what he regards as his most gratifying golfing triumph, Campanelli moved into a 2-up advantage during the morning round. Then after having played the front nine in the afternoon in 34 strokes, he started the last leg of the journey 6 up.

Campanelli had gone three up at the second hole in the afternoon with a birdie, lost the next to Stan's par but then hit a streak that enabled him to sweep the next five holes and build virtually insurmountable lead.

In that surge he displayed a devastating short game. At the fourth he missed the green by a wide margin but chipped off for an easy par; at the sixth he drove the green, got down in two putts; at the eighth his second was short but another deft chip set up another winning four.

Almost Ade
At the seventh he gave the masses through a terrific thrill by almost getting an ace. His tee shot, a four-iron effort, rolled over the cup and stopped 18 inches away.

At the eighth, after both had fine drives, Abrams arched an approach eight feet from the pin—but Campanelli dropped his second two feet inside Stan's shot and birdied the hole.

Abrams, despite the mounting odds against him, continued to hit the big try and, tying together two fine shots at the ninth, won the hole with a birdie.

It seemed he would reduce his deficit at the 10th when he drove the green and Campanelli's tee shot fell short. But that was where Abrams usually departs putting touch abandoned him, costing him that hole and the next three as well, halving in four where he might have been winning.

Three Putts
He teed-off the 10th green, missed from about four feet at the 11th and again at the 12th and 13th. In the afternoon Campanelli putted six greens, the putts being relatively easy because of the accuracy of his short game.

In the morning round Abrams had considerable trap trouble, catching four of them during the first nine and three of the back nine. Campanelli kept out of trouble over the out-going stretch and, playing it safe, was 2 up.

Stan cut it to two at the 11th, where Campanelli missed the

Winners' Pete Ward
Hits Third Grand Slam of Season

Kansas City — (AP) — Pete Ward hit his third grand slam of the season, capping a seven-run eighth-inning rally that gave the Chicago White Sox an 11-4 second-game victory over Kansas City and a doubleheader sweep yesterday.

Ward hit a bases-empty home run as the White Sox won the opener, 8-1.

Ward's latest grand slam put him within reach of the major league record of five in a single season, held by Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs and Jim Gentile, now in the Athletics.

Two were out in the eighth inning of the nightcap when relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm slugged a run-producing single and snuffed a 4-4 tie. Ward's grand slam wrapped it up.

Earlier in the game, Dave Nicholson was hit on the head by a pitch and had to be carried off the field on a stretcher. He suffered a cut over his right eye, but was not injured seriously.

Nicholson homered in the first game, as did Ward in support of John Rubeck's five-hit pitching.

The A's run came in the eighth on a double by Dick Green and Ed Charles' single. In the second game, Manny Jimenez hit two homers for Kansas City and Rocky Colavito one for Chicago.

Floyd Robinson hit one for Chicago.

green with his approach and then hit one of his rare weak chips. However, when Stan caught traps again at the 13th and 14th, Campy upped his margin to four.

Stan the scrapper won the 17th and 18th with pars as Campy took his turn visiting traps.

Won in 1948
In the morning round Campanelli fired a 75. Abrams a 78. On the front nine in the afternoon Campanelli was 34, two under, and Stan was 39. They were even four thereafter.

Thus Campanelli regained the title he had first won in 1948, topping John Mallaghan in that final. The next two years he failed to qualify for match play but, in 1952, he went to the final again, only to lose to Bob Kisten. As a young lad, he won the caddy crown in 1934 and 1935.

En route to the championship Campanelli started by winning the medal, then defeated Dr. Daniel Magiera of West Warwick, 1 up. Pat DiPietro, West Warwick, in a 19-hole duel; Don Guilbeault of Valley, 7 and 6; the tourney's surprise package, Gil Gonsaves of Wampanoag, 4 and 3.

Abrams, in his best showing in the state title, was defeated successfully from Ray Swack of Woonsocket, in 20 holes.

Ward's latest grand slam put him within reach of the major league record of five in a single season, held by Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs and Jim Gentile, now in the Athletics.

Two were out in the eighth inning of the nightcap when relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm slugged a run-producing single and snuffed a 4-4 tie. Ward's grand slam wrapped it up.

Sox Top Nats, 5-3, Bow by 10-3

Washington — (AP) — The Washington Senators lost their eighth straight in the first game of a doubleheader yesterday, tying the New York Mets for the season's high — but bounced back and beat Boston, 10-3, in the second game.

The Nats added three runs in the sixth off Bob Hefferon, an Alex Bressoud two-run error and a single by winning pitcher Tony Conigliaro slugged his 15th homer and a risk-scoring double for Boston in the nightcap.

The Red Sox broke a 3-2 tie with three runs in the seventh inning of the opener, two on Felix Mantilla's 10th home run for Boston but drove in two runs on an infield out and one on a sacrifice fly.

Radatz Again
Dick Radatz came on in the eighth inning after Fred Valentine's home run and singles by King and Don Lock off Hefferon. Radatz picked up his 14th save in protecting the victory for Jack Lamabe.

Roarke's Hit in 10th Gets Tigers Split With Orioles

Detroit — (UPI) — Catcher Mike Roarke of Rhode Island hit a two-run single in the 10th inning yesterday, enabling the Detroit Tigers to split with the Baltimore Orioles, 4-3, and earn a split in a doubleheader.

The Orioles took a 3-2 lead in the top of the 10th on an un-angled home run by Steve Garvey, who scored on a ground-into-double play.

Miller picked up his 16th save by getting Naps' Cash to tap into a double play without a run on and one out in the ninth. Harvey Hallick, the second of three Baltimore pitchers, was the winner.

The WPRU Trophy for catching the second-largest crowd of the tournament went to Bobby Pajsa of Warwick, for a 218-pounder Saturday Bobby a skipper during the two-day contest. Bob Lamon of the Males won the R. J. Schaefer Sportsman Award.

The words caught by Mancini Jr. and Papa were the only ones taken in this year's two-day tourney as against only one success last year, that by Mrs. Ethel Phillips of Little Compton, who got a 175-pounder.

Dennis Ralston Wins Western Open Tennis
Indianapolis — (AP) — Dennis Ralston, the nation's second-ranked player, won the 17th Western Open Tennis Championship yesterday with a seemingly effortless 6-1, 6-1 conquest of Marty Riessen, Evanson, Ill.

Tom Mancini Jr. of the Roger Williams Striper Club, whose 278-pound broadbill had been the first fish boated on Saturday, was the big winner. Although an early-morning chop subsided for a few minutes late in the a.m. was picked up again shortly after midday, causing some anglers to head back to Point Judith long before the official closing time.

Westerly Ruth Club Triumphs in Tent
The Westerly Babe Ruth League All-Stars scored five runs in the second inning but had to score a run in the tenth inning in defeating the Newport Americans, 8-7, in a R.I. Babe Ruth League District 2 quarterfinal game at Westerly yesterday.

In other games a steal of home by a Coventry player enabled the Coventry Nationals to defeat the Warwick Nationals, 1-0, at Coventry. Roger Warfield of Warwick and Bill Hurbird of Coventry hooked up in a tight pitching duel with each allowing only three hits.

Manny Silva, had two hits and drove in two runs as he led Middletown to a 5-1 victory over the Coventry Americans. All-Stars at Middletown: Paul Burke limited the Coventry team to three hits.

The Newport Nationals became the fourth team to qualify for the district semifinals by defeating the Coventry, 2-0, at Coventry. The semifinals will be held next Saturday.

Los Angeles — (AP) — Bob Rodgers, whose 18-game hitting streak was stopped in the first game, singled home an unearned run with two out in the 10th inning of the nightcap, giving Los Angeles a 3-2 triumph over Minnesota and a sweep of their doubleheader yesterday.

The Angels won the opener, 2-1, on Jim Piersall's run-scoring double in the ninth. Zoilo Versalles, Minnesota shortstop, helped set up the winning run when he threw wildly on Willie Smith's ground-into-double play.

Smith was out trying to get back into second on Lou Clinton's grounder, but Piersall took second on the play and scored on Rodgers' single.

The victory was the Angels' sixth straight in extra-innings. The Angels scored in the first inning to which Piersall led off with a single and scored on a triple by Piersall. Piersall scored the sixth, took third on a double by Jim Adcock, and came home on a fly ball by Rodgers.
