

Truax, Quinn Lead State Golf With 68s

By BARNEY MADDEN

Journal-Bulletin Sports Editor

Jerry Truax of Pawtucket, making his first start in the R.I. Amateur Golf Championship gave an impressive performance yesterday at Quidnessett, getting a flying start toward the medal with his opening round of 35-33—68.

The field of 157 golfers played the first half of the qualifying 36 holes yesterday and will complete their tasks today. Only 32 of them will survive for match play, which means that today's struggles for qualifying spots should be extremely interesting.

Truax, a former Canadian junior champion as well as a winner in assorted tournaments throughout this country, is a relatively new member of the Pawtucket club. He starred at the University of New Mexico and, obviously, starred yesterday at Quidnessett.

His 68 was four shots better than his nearest rivals, Glenn Pratt of Warwick and Guido Colardo of Valley. True enough, Ronnie Quinn, the defending champion, also fired a 68 yester-

Continued on Page 30

42,282 See Bosox, Orioles Split Day-Night Pair

Boston Belted After Taking Opener, 4-2

By HAROLD RICH
Journal-Bulletin Sports Writer

Boston.—There haven't been many instances in this season when the Baltimore Orioles have acted like defending world champions. They did tonight last night while quashing the Boston Red Sox, 10-4, with a 16-hit, three-homer barrage after having lost, 4-2, in the afternoon game of a day-night double header.

The separate-admissions program lured a remarkable total of 42,282 fans—23,113 at the night game. The total increased the season's Fenway Park attendance to 338,982—18,005 ahead of last year's pace.

Whereas the 19,171 afternoon witnesses were sent home happy, though the Sox posted only four hits in their victory, the assembly at night had little or no doubt about Dave McNally, the Oriole left-hander, saw to that, with a superb six-hitter, and so did his teammates, and their lively bats and superlative fielding.

The Orioles started their shelling against Gary Bell, tallying eight hits and six runs at the right-hander's expense in four and one-third innings. The rest of the damage was done against relievers Jose Santiago, Dan Osinski and Galen Cline.

Most of the power was supplied by Paul Blair (a double and homer); Brooks Robinson (a triple and homer) and Curt Motton, the former Elm St. pitcher, who hammered a double and homer.

Two of the homers were blasted in a four-run fifth inning during which Bell was removed from the scene in favor of Santiago. In retrospect, Bell actually was decided in the first inning, in which the Orioles scored two runs on three hits more runs than McNally was able to record his sixth victory in 11 decisions.

The left-hander's remarkable sticky predicament occurred in the second inning. Tony Conigliaro led off with a walk and was singled to second by Glenn Scott. McNally ran the count on the next batter, Rick Petrocelli, in 32 before striking him out. While Petrocelli was mired in the third strike, Conigliaro and Scott pulled off a double play.

The thefts were the Sox' 35th and 36th of the season—more than they posted during the entire 1966 season. McNally couldn't ghost over that example of progress, since McNally retired the next batter while Conigliaro and Scott remained at their respective stations.

In only one other inning did the Sox get a runner far as second base. That was the ninth, in which Conigliaro singled and Petrocelli walked, with two out.

McNally then ended it all by getting Reggie Smith to ground out.

In the day game, the Sox benefited from first-inning Oriole transgressions that led to the scoring of three unearned runs. Joe Foy's homer into the center field from first-inning Oriole the Sox' final run.

Before the victory could be recorded, however, the Sox needed some relief from their pitching. They got it in one inning from Sparky Lyle. The rookie left-hander struck out a minuscule, the left-hander, in three pitches after starter Lee Stange had loaded the bases with two out in the sixth inning.

Lyle, in turn, was succeeded

Charlie Smith

Smith, 17, Wins Medal in State Amateur Golf

By BARNEY MADDEN
Journal-Bulletin Sports Editor

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Charles Smith, 17-year-old Woodstock High senior, showed his elders how it is done yesterday when he won the medal in the R.I. Amateur golf championship at the Quinneset C.C. with a 56-hole total of 143.

The lad, who represents Wrentham, regaled his followers with a 53 two under par, after having fashioned a first round 74 on Wednesday. His total was one shot better than that compiled by Lou Plazick of Valley, who fired a 71 yesterday.

The host of hopefuls had to combat rain, fog, wet greens and, at times, wind, but they did such a commendable job at 154, necessitating a play-off for four places.

Senators Sweep Two From Detroit

Washington — (UPI) — Mike Epstein, who batted in four runs and scored three times in the first game with his homers and the triple, quickly put the Senators ahead in the playoffs by doubling home two runs in the first inning.

Washington scored three unearned runs in the second inning and put the game out of reach. Bernie Allen and Tim Cullen led off with singles and both scored when Detroit's pitcher, Denny McLain, threw the ball into left field on a bunt by rival pitcher Joe Coleman. Coleman came around on an infield out and Ken McMillen's sacrifice fly.

Epstein began his slugging spree when he tripled and later scored in the second inning of the opener.

The burly first baseman then swatted a three-run home run in the third inning, erasing Detroit's 3-2 lead and putting the Senators in front for keeps. He hit his second homer of the game and his sixth of the season in the eighth inning launching a three-run spurt by the Senators.

Cullen accounted for three other runs for Washington with his first major league home run and a two-run single.

In the opener Camilo Pascual limited the Tigers to four hits and only one earned run. Norm Cash's homer, as he picked up his fifth victory in 14 decisions.

Joe Sparrma was tagged with the loss — his second as against nine victories.

DETROIT FIRST GAME

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 10-0 W L P

Green 1

Yaz, Tony C. Hit Homers as Bosox Win, 11-5

By HAROLD RICH
Journal-Bulletin Sports Writer

Senators Win 5th Straight

Washington (AP) — Paul Casanova hoped a two-out single to right in the eighth inning last night drove in two runs and led the Washington Senators to a 3-1 victory over Detroit.

The victory was Washington's fifth straight and the defeat Detroit's fourth consecutive.

The Senators' Phil Ortega and Earl Wilson of Detroit were locked in a 1-1 duel until Washington broke it open in the eighth.

Ed Stroud's single leading off the inning was the fourth hit off Wilson. Stroud stole second as Frank Howard struck out and continued to third on Bill Freehan's overthrow of second. Fred Valenzuela walked.

Hank Aguirre came on but walked Mike Epton. Leading the bases and was replaced by Mike Marshall, who was greeted by Casanova's game-winning single.

Doubles by Ken McMillen and Howard accounted for Washington's first run in the first inning and the Tigers matched it in the seventh on Freehan's 13th homer of the season.

smashing the Orioles, 11-5, at Fenway Park.

A thoroughly entertained crowd of 27,787 — which included 15,000 Sox fans — watched three games of the current series to 70,069 — watched the Sox run to 12 hits in the decisive triumph.

Against Phil Jones of the Orioles, Quinn drew a 69, two under the par — two balls out of bounds — and in the afternoon he went three under in winning from young Jack Smyth III of St. Louis.

But, before going into detail, let's consider the plight of Phil Jones. That amiable soul was even with Quinn after nine holes and fired a sizzling 32 on the back nine, three under — but he lost.

Four down after 14 holes, Jones rattled off four straight birdies — but picked up only two holes because Quinn buried two of them himself. At the final hole Jones dropped a 12-foot putt for a birdie and a 69, but Quinn, teamed with his approach, banged one in from nine feet, halved the hole and won the match.

Against Phil Jones of the Orioles, Quinn drew a 69, two under the par — two balls out of bounds — and in the afternoon he went three under in winning from young Jack Smyth III of St. Louis.

But, before going into detail, let's consider the plight of Phil Jones. That amiable soul was even with Quinn after nine holes and fired a sizzling 32 on the back nine, three under — but he lost.

Four down after 14 holes, Jones rattled off four straight birdies — but picked up only two holes because Quinn buried two of them himself. At the final hole Jones dropped a 12-foot putt for a birdie and a 69, but Quinn, teamed with his approach, banged one in from nine feet, halved the hole and won the match.

Against Phil Jones of the Orioles, Quinn drew a 69, two under the par — two balls out of bounds — and in the afternoon he went three under in winning from young Jack Smyth III of St. Louis.

home in two. When Pete pitched on and missed his putt he conceded Barber his winning eagle.

Barber had defeated a former champion, Fred Campanelli of Metcromet, 1 up in the morning. Other former titlists losing were Frank McMeister of the Rhode Island Country Club and Angie Santilli of Potomac, beaten, respectively, by D'Ambrase and Guilbeault, with Santilli losing on the 19th hole.

There, however, Erickson missed the green with his third putt whereas Barber was nicely on the 19th hole.

home in two. When Pete pitched on and missed his putt he conceded Barber his winning eagle.

Barber had defeated a former champion, Fred Campanelli of Metcromet, 1 up in the morning. Other former titlists losing were Frank McMeister of the Rhode Island Country Club and Angie Santilli of Potomac, beaten, respectively, by D'Ambrase and Guilbeault, with Santilli losing on the 19th hole.

There, however, Erickson missed the green with his third putt whereas Barber was nicely on the 19th hole.

home in two. When Pete pitched on and missed his putt he conceded Barber his winning eagle.

Barber had defeated a former champion, Fred Campanelli of Metcromet, 1 up in the morning. Other former titlists losing were Frank McMeister of the Rhode Island Country Club and Angie Santilli of Potomac, beaten, respectively, by D'Ambrase and Guilbeault, with Santilli losing on the 19th hole.

There, however, Erickson missed the green with his third putt whereas Barber was nicely on the 19th hole.

There has been no indication in the first five innings that the Sox would make it to the end.

He had permitted a single to the first batter he faced in the game, Lou Aparicio, then retired 14 in a row before Dave Johnson doubled with two out in the fifth.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Longest extricated himself from that predicament — he did not. The next inning was something else again. He was tagged for four hits and three runs, two of them tripled home by Brooks Robinson. Robinson also scored, when center fielder Reggie Smith's throw to third ripped the ball as all.

Carl Yastrzemski, big gun for Red Sox with home run, double and a single.

Yankees Post First Sweep

Peterson, Downing Pitch N.Y. Victories Over Indians, 2-1, 2-0

New York (UPI) — Fritz Peterson pitched a five-hit shutout and Al Downing won 10th game of the year on a five-hitter as the New York Yankees swept their first doubleheader of the year last night by beating the Cleveland Indians 2-1 and 2-0.

Mickey Mantle drove in the winning run in the nightcap game with only one out in the first inning of the second game. The Indians' starter, Sonny Siebert, had to leave the game with a sore arm in the fourth inning.

The Yankees added another run in the third with the help of two feckless blunders by second baseman Chico Salmon. After two were out, Joe Pepitone singled when Salmon lost Mantle's high pop in the lights. Pepitone continued to third.

Pepitone scored when Salmon was unable to handle Steve Whitaker's short fly to right. In the opener, Elton Howard's four-field home run bucked Downing's five-hit pitching.

Pepitone's double drove home John Kruk. Downing's first run in the opening inning. A ground-rule double by Joe Aron and Rocky Colavito's single produced Cleveland's run.

Quinn's Blazing Golf Features Amateur Jones Has 32 on Back Nine But Bows to Champ

By BARNEY MADDEN
Journal-Bulletin Sports Editor

Two dazzling rounds of golf by Ronnie Quinn, the defending champion, got the match play segment of the R.I. Amateur Golf Tourney off to a thrilling start yesterday and enabled him to survive two terrific challenges and gain a spot in today's third round.

Against Phil Jones of the Orioles, Quinn drew a 69, two under the par — two balls out of bounds — and in the afternoon he went three under in winning from young Jack Smyth III of St. Louis.

But, before going into detail, let's consider the plight of Phil Jones. That amiable soul was even with Quinn after nine holes and fired a sizzling 32 on the back nine, three under — but he lost.

Four down after 14 holes, Jones rattled off four straight birdies — but picked up only two holes because Quinn buried two of them himself. At the final hole Jones dropped a 12-foot putt for a birdie and a 69, but Quinn, teamed with his approach, banged one in from nine feet, halved the hole and won the match.

Against Phil Jones of the Orioles, Quinn drew a 69, two under the par — two balls out of bounds — and in the afternoon he went three under in winning from young Jack Smyth III of St. Louis.

But, before going into detail, let's consider the plight of Phil Jones. That amiable soul was even with Quinn after nine holes and fired a sizzling 32 on the back nine, three under — but he lost.

Four down after 14 holes, Jones rattled off four straight birdies — but picked up only two holes because Quinn buried two of them himself. At the final hole Jones dropped a 12-foot putt for a birdie and a 69, but Quinn, teamed with his approach, banged one in from nine feet, halved the hole and won the match.

Chisox Gain Split With Angels

Chicago (AP) — The Chicago White Sox won a rare hitting spot behind Joe Horne's six-hit pitching and breezed to an 8-0 victory over the California Angels.

The Angels won the opener, 3-2, on a run-scoring single by punch hitter Jimmie Hall in the seventh inning.

The White Sox jumped on the Angels in the second.

California starter Clyde Wright for two runs in the first inning of the nightcap and wrapped up the victory with a five-run burst in the second.

Pete Ward singled one run across in the first half and slammed a controversial two-run home in capping the second, inning explosion. J. C. Martin's bases-empty homer in the eighth completed the Sox' 12-hit attack.

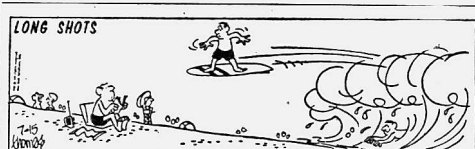

For the second consecutive game the Orioles' Curt Motton, who was with Elmer, last season, deprived a Sox batter of an extra-base hit with a leaping catch while backed to the left field wall.

He did it late in the second inning. Ken Poulson, the infielder the Sox brought up from Winston-Salem two weeks ago, got his first major-league hit last night, a double to left in the seventh.

He was one of several substitutions Manager Williams made late in the game. It was his third at-bat in the majors.

The Providence Journal SPORTS

SATURDAY, JULY 15, 1967 — PAGE 10

Cardinals Edge Pirates, 2-1

St. Louis (UPI) — Julian Javier scored from third base on Jose Pagan's wild throw to the plate from short left field during a two-run seventh-inning rally as the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1, last night.

Javier, who had reached third on pinchrunner Orlando Cepeda's run-scoring single, held the tag when pinchhitter Dave Ricketts lofted a soft fly to shallow left field. But Pagan threw wildly over catcher Jerry May's head and Javier scored easily with the winning run.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

Pro Soccer Star Bemoans Poor Attendance

Pittsburgh (AP) — The National Professional Soccer League's leading scorer says he is puzzled by the cool reception professional soccer has received in the United States.

"I just can't understand this," said Manfred Rummenigge, the star of the Pittsburgh Phantoms.

"I thought it would be full for every game."

"I can't understand it because I thought American people knew all kinds of sports."

For sitting in Europe, Rummenigge said, soccer fans consider the seats behind the home team the best in the stadium.

"You couldn't get a seat like that an hour before a game," Rummenigge said.

"Here you never see anyone behind the goal."

Rummenigge, who has been a pro for 10 years, said he thought the American version of soccer was rougher than in Europe, and the crowded schedule — as many as three games a week — makes for sometimes ragged play.

"It's like playing three of your football games in a week," he said. "Everywhere in the world, you play 30 games a year but you play 32 in four months."

Fazio Named Coach Of Boston U. Frosh

Boston (UPI) — S. D. Fazio, former center and linebacker on the 1958 and 1959 University of Pittsburgh football teams, yesterday was named head coach of freshman football at Boston University.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

Homers Lift Braves Over Phils, 4-2

Atlanta (AP) — Rico Carty slammed a three-run homer in the first inning last night, sparking the Atlanta Braves to a 4-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, whose comeback bid was checked by Hank Aaron's 22nd home run of the season.

Philadelphia's Phil Maffei pitched a three-hitter, but the Braves' Carty, who had reached third on pinchrunner Orlando Cepeda's run-scoring single, held the tag when pinchhitter Dave Ricketts lofted a soft fly to shallow left field. But Pagan threw wildly over catcher Jerry May's head and Javier scored easily with the winning run.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbed Pagan's blooping fly to circle the bases.

Ed Spiccoli singled off opening the seventh inning and Javier walked. Cepeda then singled, sharply through the middle drive in pinch runner Alex Johnson and sent Javier to third.

GET THE MGB

It's leading the imported sports car pack in sales!

PICARD MOTOR SALES, Inc.

ONLY 10 MINUTES FROM PROVIDENCE

NORTH SMITHFIELD, R. I.

PHONE 747-3500

4.7 Miles South of Woonsocket

WOLF'S HEAD OIL

America's Finest

MELLOR'S AUTO PARTS

Triple Play Features 5-1 Red Sox Victory

By JOE McHENRY
Boston Globe Staff Writer
Boston — "Stridling" and Gary Bell regained some of their pitching skill and self-assurance yesterday when they combined to pitch a brilliant five-inning effort that added some more to the life and times of Manager Hank Bauer and the world champion Baltimore Orioles.

As a result of the 5-1 Sox triumph over the O's, who took a long way from last season's World Series winners, Boston is only 4½ games behind the American League's pace-setting Chicago White Sox who were knocked off by the surging California Angels. Although Santiago and Bell were whacked and humiliated by the O's on Thursday, the Sox took the series, three games to one and, as an added attraction, staged a triple play yesterday.

Two hours or so before game-time, Boston and Fenway Park was being pelted by a heavy rain storm. However, with the walking first two batters, O's Frank Robinson on the shelf with some eye trouble and the Red Sox having the winning momentum these days, the Boston management was anxious to get the show going, and it did.

When the Boston starter, Gary Wastles, showed a multi-incident lack of control, firing only one strike in 11 pitches and shading the first two batters, the Sox looked bright for the victory. However, Santiago had now had to pitch for some time and took over. He probably had more on the ball yesterday than he has had over a long stretch.

With Santiago having a 3-2 count on the first batter, he lost control. Paul Blair, an outfielder, Paul Blair, a pitcher, and Charlie Smith, a pitcher, had the two base runners and going. Blair smashed one just as Scott, erasing Blair. Luis Aparicio, at second base, and Russ Snyder, at first, it was the in the Mike Epstein deal was a little and George Scott tangled an attempt to give the O's with Scott's hit sending Gary Ricketts, balance, hasn't been across, making it 3-0, and chasing Ricketts.

This brought up Jerry Adair, a former Oriole who talked him out of a World Series pay check with his "Play me or I'll trade me" ultimatum last season. Adair took a big swing and popped one of reliever Ed die Walt's pitches into short right field. The ball fell among Dave Johnson, the second baseman, outfielder Curt Blefary and first baseman Boog Powell. Powell picked it out of a big puddle in which it had landed.

Continued on Page 2, Col. 1

with a four-run outburst in the first run with a deep sacrifice fly to center field. Tony Conigliaro and George Scott tangled an attempt to give the O's with Scott's hit sending Gary Ricketts, balance, hasn't been across, making it 3-0, and chasing Ricketts.

This brought up Jerry Adair, a former Oriole who talked him out of a World Series pay check with his "Play me or I'll trade me" ultimatum last season. Adair took a big swing and popped one of reliever Ed die Walt's pitches into short right field. The ball fell among Dave Johnson, the second baseman, outfielder Curt Blefary and first baseman Boog Powell. Powell picked it out of a big puddle in which it had landed.

Continued on Page 2, Col. 1

with a four-run outburst in the first run with a deep sacrifice fly to center field. Tony Conigliaro and George Scott tangled an attempt to give the O's with Scott's hit sending Gary Ricketts, balance, hasn't been across, making it 3-0, and chasing Ricketts.

This brought up Jerry Adair, a former Oriole who talked him out of a World Series pay check with his "Play me or I'll trade me" ultimatum last

Providence Journal SPORTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I.
JULY 16, 1967
S-1

Finalists in the R.I. Amateur Golf Tourney are Ronnie Quinn, left, and Charlie Smith.

OVER THE WATER AND OVER THE GREEN WENT CHARLIE SMITH'S TEE SHOT ON 16th HOLE IN STATE AMATEUR SEMIFINALS.

Smith, Quinn Gain Amateur Golf Final 17-Year-Old Opposes Defending Champion Today

By BARNEY MADDEN
Providence Journal Sports Editor
The two players who showed the way in the qualifying rounds of the Rhode Island Amateur Golf Tourney, Ronnie Quinn of West Warwick and Charlie Smith of Woonsocket, will battle over the 36-hole route today for the state championship.

Yesterday as heavy rains tumbled down, hot sun broke through and capricious winds added their bit to the natural hazards of the lush Quiddnesset Country Club course, the defending champion and the tournament medalist went merrily on their winning ways through the quarterfinals and semifinals.

Quinn, shooting for his fourth state title, defeated Pat Di-

Padua, also of West Warwick, 1 and 2, and Greg Barber of Valley 8 and 7. Smith outlasted Jerry Trux of Pawtucket in a "chase" struggle and won over Dick Vahay of Quiddnesset, 3 and 2.

So today, at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. they will tangle for the state title. Quinn, 17, could be an interesting skirmish, for both have played well throughout the tourney, and Quinn, in particular, having been the West Warwick lawyer has been under par in every round except one in this tourney, going one under yesterday morning and two under in the afternoon.

It will not be their first meeting, for they were second opponents last year in this event, Quinn winning, 2 himself was pulling long woods yesterday afternoon. Quinn awaited them all too often for the first seven holes from him. It required a magnificent shot, because of two things. He was hitting the ball beautifully green for Barber to take a hole whereas Greg, a lousy thumper, but, popping that one up exactly, he got his par and won from Vahay in par. The Quinn took three strokes, putting the edge of that green and made the turn six up.

Ronnie finished the match with a par at the 10th and a birdie at the 11th.

Barber had a succession of misfortunes early. He hit a good-looking second shot on the first hole, but caught a trap, and at the second, where he was stymied by a tree. He played around it, but the ball rolled into another trap. He blasted out his first putt, around the inside the cup, and rolled away.

And so it went, which was disastrous in view of the golf. Quinn was playing.

Smith won the first two holes.

from Vahay in par. The Quinn took three strokes, putting the edge of that green and made the turn six up.

Ronnie finished the match with a par at the 10th and a birdie at the 11th.

Barber had a succession of misfortunes early. He hit a good-looking second shot on the first hole, but caught a trap, and at the second, where he was stymied by a tree. He played around it, but the ball rolled into another trap. He blasted out his first putt, around the inside the cup, and rolled away.

And so it went, which was disastrous in view of the golf. Quinn was playing.

Smith won the first two holes.

from Vahay in par. The Quinn took three strokes, putting the edge of that green and made the turn six up.

Ronnie finished the match with a par at the 10th and a birdie at the 11th.

Barber had a succession of misfortunes early. He hit a good-looking second shot on the first hole, but caught a trap, and at the second, where he was stymied by a tree. He played around it, but the ball rolled into another trap. He blasted out his first putt, around the inside the cup, and rolled away.

And so it went, which was disastrous in view of the golf. Quinn was playing.

Smith won the first two holes.

from Vahay in par. The Quinn took three strokes, putting the edge of that green and made the turn six up.

Ronnie finished the match with a par at the 10th and a birdie at the 11th.

Barber had a succession of misfortunes early. He hit a good-looking second shot on the first hole, but caught a trap, and at the second, where he was stymied by a tree. He played around it, but the ball rolled into another trap. He blasted out his first putt, around the inside the cup, and rolled away.

And so it went, which was disastrous in view of the golf. Quinn was playing.

Smith won the first two holes.

Intrepid Takes Her 6th Straight Constellation Beats Eagle in First Race

By DAVE PHILLIPS
Intrepid scored her sixth straight victory in the America's Cup observation trials off Newport yesterday, beating Constellation by four minutes and 38 seconds over a 24-mile course.

In the other race, sailed in generally light air over a choppy sea, Constellation beat American Eagle by three minutes and 39 seconds.

Yesterday's races completed the second round robin in these observation trials, started July 6. The score to date is Intrepid, 6-0; Constellation, 3-3; American Eagle, 0-6.

The four defense candidates will start another round today with Constellation going off against Columbia in the first race and Intrepid meeting American Eagle in the second race, due to start 15 minutes later.

This series is to end Tuesday, no matter what transpires in the way of weather. If weather permits, the four boats can run through one more round robin. They'll start their final trials off Newport Aug. 13.

There have been three postponements in this series already because of fog and for a while yesterday a fourth postponement seemed likely. Fog socked in the Newport waterfront at 10 o'clock just as the twelve were being pulled away from their berths and the New York Yacht Club's race committee put them on standby alert.

An hour later, however, there was a short, heavy rain shower and a stiff southeast breeze, which soon shifted to southwest. That cleared the fog out nicely and at noon the race committee passed the word to the twelve to rendezvous at the Brenton Reef Light Tower.

The races started from a torpedorange buoy one mile southwest of the light tower. From there the twelve had a 3-mile windward leg out to the Point Judith whistle buoy. Two shorter reaching legs under spinners took them back to their starting point. By that time the former southwest wind had backed to the south-southwest and the twelve had to reach back to the Point Judith whistle buoy and a run home in a breeze that became lighter and lighter as they approached the finish line.

The time limit for these races is 6 p.m. Constellation and American Eagle started at 1:45 p.m. The other two got off at 2 o'clock and with the light breeze they beat the deadline by less than 20 minutes.

Intrepid's margin of victory yesterday was the largest of the series. She was the largest of the series.

Continued on Page 18, Col. 1

Dr. Fager Romps to Rock Record

By HAROLD RICH
Journal Sports Editor
Salem, N.H. — At 11:30 yesterday morning, Dr. Fager, Tarrant Stables candidate for the $85,400 Rockingham Special in his stall in one of Rockingham Park's barns, his dreamy eyes reflecting a bonum mood.

Five-and-a-half hours later, at odds of 1-10, the irrepressible bay colt flowed like honey on a hot biscuit while easily winning the Special, the first of Rockingham's two sweepstakes events. He had been shaken up when his mount in the seventh race, the favored Red Beach, broke down near the eighth pole and fell to the track while throwing the rider over his head.

Baeza, generally considered the best of this country's riders, showed no effects of the spill as while taking Dr. Fager out for the stroll in the Special, they whipped Patrice Jacobs' Reason in 1:48 1/5, a full second faster than the old mark.

A crowd of 23,754—including the man for whom the colt was named, Dr. Charles Fager, chief of neurosurgery at Boston's Lahey Clinic—watched each other as Braillo Baeza kept the speedster in hand while leading during most of the cakewalk.

For at least several seconds, two races earlier, the witnesses had had reason to doubt that Baeza would be fit to ride in the Special, the first of Rockingham's two sweepstakes events. He had been shaken up when his mount in the seventh race, the favored Red Beach, broke down near the eighth pole and fell to the track while throwing the rider over his head.

Baeza, generally considered the best of this country's riders, showed no effects of the spill as while taking Dr. Fager out for the stroll in the Special, they whipped Patrice Jacobs' Reason in 1:48 1/5, a full second faster than the old mark.

A crowd of 23,754—including the man for whom the colt was named, Dr. Charles Fager, chief of neurosurgery at Boston's Lahey Clinic—watched each other as Braillo Baeza kept the speedster in hand while leading during most of the cakewalk.

For at least several seconds, two races earlier, the witnesses had had reason to doubt that Baeza would be fit to ride in the Special, the first of Rockingham's two sweepstakes events. He had been shaken up when his mount in the seventh race, the favored Red Beach, broke down near the eighth pole and fell to the track while throwing the rider over his head.

Baeza, generally considered the best of this country's riders, showed no effects of the spill as while taking Dr. Fager out for the stroll in the Special, they whipped Patrice Jacobs' Reason in 1:48 1/5, a full second faster than the old mark.

A crowd of 23,754—including the man for whom the colt was named, Dr. Charles Fager, chief of neurosurgery at Boston's Lahey Clinic—watched each other as Braillo Baeza kept the speedster in hand while leading during most of the cakewalk.

For at least several seconds, two races earlier, the witnesses had had reason to doubt that Baeza would be fit to ride in the Special, the first of Rockingham's two sweepstakes events. He had been shaken up when his mount in the seventh race, the favored Red Beach, broke down near the eighth pole and fell to the track while throwing the rider over his head.

Baeza, generally considered the best of this country's riders, showed no effects of the spill as while taking Dr. Fager out for the stroll in the Special, they whipped Patrice Jacobs' Reason

Pawtucket Wins, 2-1, Though Held to a Hit

By BILL PARREILLO
The Pawtucket Indians' roll of control did him in. Schuelea leered only one hit last night, but behind the superb relief pitcher of Oscar Zamora and the defensive brilliance of center-fielder Frank DeCastris, Pawtucket, 2-1, before slapping a single to left, scoring 633 spectators at McCoy Stadium.

Pitching and defense stood the Indians in good stead in their series effort. In the second inning he is pitching Oscar Zamora and the defensive brilliance of center-fielder Frank DeCastris, Pawtucket, 2-1, before slapping a single to left, scoring 633 spectators at McCoy Stadium.

The Indians got their other run in the third when two walks and an infield error loaded the bases. Two outs later Schuelea walked Mander, forcing in what proved to be the winning run.

DeCastris' heroics came in the fifth inning when the Mets threatened to score more off Jim Rittagge, the Indians starting pitcher.

Sherwin Minter's single to left scored Carl Lundgren after one out. With runners on first and second, center fielder DeCastris strong throw to the plate forced Don Dyer to hold up at third.

Tom Gasper hit a fly ball to medium center but DeCastris, after making the catch, fired a hit to left scored Carl Lundgren after one out. With runners on first and second, center fielder DeCastris strong throw to the plate forced Don Dyer to hold up at third.

Tom Gasper hit a fly ball to medium center but DeCastris, after making the catch, fired a hit to left scored Carl Lundgren after one out. With runners on first and second, center fielder DeCastris strong throw to the plate forced Don Dyer to hold up at third.

Tom Gasper hit a fly ball to medium center but DeCastris, after making the catch, fired a hit to left scored Carl Lundgren after one out. With runners on first and second, center fielder DeCastris strong throw to the plate forced Don Dyer to hold up at third.

Tom Gasper hit a fly ball to medium center but DeCastris, after making the catch, fired a

Gibson Injured As Cards Lose

St. Louis — (AP) — Pinch hitter Jose Pagan drove in the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning last night, sparking Pittsburgh to a 6-4 victory over St. Louis. The Cardinals lost their All-Star pitching ace Bob Gibson for up to six weeks with a broken bone in his right leg.

Gibson struck in the leg by a line drive off the bat of Roberto Clemente in the fourth inning received a fractured fibula above his right ankle. The fibula is the outer bone that extends from the knee to the ankle. Doctors estimated he will be sidelined from four to six weeks.

Don Clendenen led off the eighth against reliever Nelson Soto with his second single and Gene Alley sacrificed. Clendenen took third on an infield hit to left scored Carl Lundgren after one out. With runners on first and second, center fielder DeCastris strong throw to the plate forced Don Dyer to hold up at third.

Tom Gasper hit a fly ball to medium center but DeCastris, after making the catch, fired a hit to left scored Carl Lundgren after one out. With runners on first and second, center fielder DeCastris strong throw to the plate forced Don Dyer to hold up at third.

Tom Gasper hit a fly ball to medium center but DeCastris, after making the catch, fired a hit to left scored Carl Lundgren after one out. With runners on first and second, center fielder DeCastris strong throw to the plate forced Don Dyer to hold up at third.

Tom Gasper hit a fly ball to medium center but DeCastris, after making the catch, fired a

Major League Baseball

RESULTS YESTERDAY

Boston 4, Baltimore 1	St. Louis 6, Pittsburgh 4
Cincinnati 4, Chicago 1	San Francisco 3, Houston 1
Minnesota 5, Kansas City 2	Philadelphia 3, New York 1
Washington 1, Detroit 0

STANDING OF THE TEAMS

W	L	P	C	G
Chicago	49	37	560	11½
Minnesota	47	37	560	11½
Detroit	45	39	536	3½
California	42	42	523	4
Boston	44	40	524	4½
Cleveland	42	43	523	4
Baltimore	40	46	463	9½
Washington	40	47	460	10
New York	40	46	459	10
Kansas City	36	51	414	14

NATIONAL LEAGUE RESULTS YESTERDAY

Atlanta 3, Philadelphia 2	Los Angeles 4, San Francisco 1
Cincinnati 4, Chicago 1	San Francisco 3, Houston 1
Minnesota 5, Kansas City 2	Philadelphia 3, New York 1
Washington 1, Detroit 0

STANDING OF THE TEAMS

W	L	P	C	G
Chicago	49	37	560	11½
Minnesota	47	37	560	11½
Detroit	45	39	536	3½
California	42	42	523	4
Boston	44	40	524	4½
Cleveland	42	43	523	4
Baltimore	40	46	463	9½
Washington	40	47	460	10
New York	40	46	459	10
Kansas City	36	51	414	14

MAJOR LEAGUE RESULTS YESTERDAY

Atlanta 3, Philadelphia 2	Los Angeles 4, San Francisco 1
Cincinnati 4, Chicago 1	San Francisco 3, Houston 1
Minnesota 5, Kansas City 2	Philadelphia 3, New York 1
Washington 1, Detroit 0

STANDING OF THE TEAMS

W	L	P	C	G
Chicago	49	37	560	11½
Minnesota	47	37	560	11½
Detroit	45	39	536	3½
California	42	42	523	4
Boston	44	40	524	4½
Cleveland	42	43	523	4
Baltimore	40	46	463	9½
Washington	40	47	460	10
New York	40	46	459	10
Kansas City	36	51	414	14

MAJOR LEAGUE RESULTS YESTERDAY

Atlanta 3, Philadelphia 2	Los Angeles 4, San Francisco 1
Cincinnati 4, Chicago 1	San Francisco 3, Houston 1
Minnesota 5, Kansas City 2	Philadelphia 3, New York 1
Washington 1, Detroit 0

STANDING OF THE TEAMS

W	L	P	C	G
Chicago	49	37	560	11½
Minnesota	47	37	560	11½
Detroit	45	39	536	3½
California	42	42	523	4
Boston	44	40	524	4½
Cleveland	42	43	523	4
Baltimore	40	46	463	9½
Washington	40	47	460	10
New York	40	46	459	10
Kansas City	36	51	414	14

De Vincenzo Wins British Open by Two

HOUSTON, England — (AP) — Internationalist, runnerup in the 1959 and 1960 British Open, won the 1967 British Open by two strokes over the Argentine, Roberto de Vincenzo, 44-year-old golfer from the Argentine, started in 1948, first a final round 70 over the Royal Liverpool links for a 72-hole score of 278, 10 under par.

Nicklaus, the Golden Bear from Columbus, Ohio, who won the American Open just a month ago, gave it a charge, but never managed to move closer than within two shots of the Latin-American, Big Jack rolled in a 25-foot putt on the 18th hole for a 69, and a finishing score of 280.

De Vincenzo's winning total was just two shots off the all-time record in this 107-year-old tournament—the 276 registered by Arnold Palmer in winning at Troon in 1962. Palmer didn't complete here.

The winning purse was only $8,800, small by U.S. standards, but the victory qualified De Vienzo for the $100,000 World Series of Golf at Akron, Ohio.

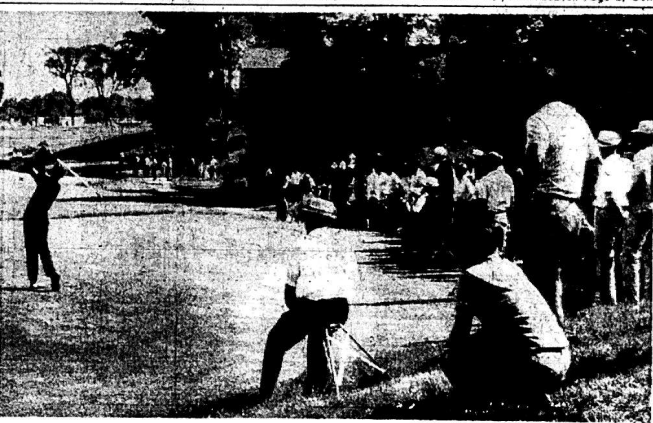

The final round was strictly a two-man battle over the closing holes on the 6,995-yard, par-72 course at Gary Player Old South Africa, in second place two strokes back, at the start of the day, encountered early putting troubles.

The little star from Johannesburg, three-putting the 10th and landing in a fairway bunker at the 18th, struggled home with a 74 for 284 and a tie for third money with England's sensation, 22-year-old Clive Clark. Clark had a closing 72.

After this past came England's Tony Jacklin, 23, at 283, followed by Sebastian Miguel of Spain and Harold Herring of South Africa, tied at 286.

Only 11 of the 38 qualifiers for the last two rounds broke par, but another American, Roberto de Vincenzo

OVER THE WATER AND OVER THE GREEN WENT CHARLIE SMITH'S TEE SHOT ON 16th HOLE IN STATE AMATEUR SEMIFINALS.

Continued on Page 2, Col. 1

Ronnie Quinn Retains R.I. Amateur Golf Title, 7 and 6

Match With Smith Ends on 30th Hole

By BARNY MADDEN
Journal-Bulletin Staff Writer
Ronnie Quinn of West Warwick had too many shots and too much experience for young Charlie Smith of Woonsocket yesterday and retained his R.I. amateur golf championship, topping the Woonsocket schoolboy, 7 and 6, in the final round.

Although the Quinnesett course, site of the 36-hole title duel, once again was visited by inclement rain, wind and sultry weather, Quinn contrived to play the 30 holes he scheduled in about 10 1/2 hours, and he was one under in the afternoon round, one that was thoroughly drenched in its late stages, and he was one under in the afternoon, gaining a birdie on the final hole as he canned a put for about 12 feet for a deuce.

Despite that, the now four-times titleholder knew full well that he had fared well against Smith, 17-year-old schoolboy—a senior at Woonsocket High School in the fall—never gave up and never permitted his game to collapse.

Good Breaks
If he aimed at it it was on the aggressive side, going for distance off the tee and charging his putts. He had some bad luck on the greens, slipping the cup a few times, having the ball peek into the hole at one point (the 16th in the morning round) but declining to drop.

Quinn got a couple of good breaks when errant tee shots headed for the forest only to be fired right back in the hole. Quinn, also, found a friendly tree at the 14th (the morning) and that enabled him to hole out on the 16th with a par. They halved the final rain-drenched two holes.

Three Putts
Smith started the afternoon round with a winning par as Quinn three-putted and highlighted a Minnesota comeback that gave the Twins a 7-5 victory and a sweep of the double-header with the California Angels.

The Twins won the opener, 8-1, behind Dave Boswell and moved to within a half game of the league-leading Chicago White Sox.

A gallery of 43,419, the largest regular-season crowd in the Twins' seven-year history, saw their home-run heroes supplied by Bob Allison, who hit one in each game.

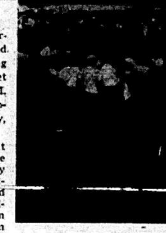

Allison stroked his 11th, three-run, pinch-hit blast in the first off Turner and his 12th in the seventh inning off the night cap with a man on and tied the score at 6-6.

At Worthington, the Twins' fifth pitcher, blanked the Angels on two hits over the last two innings for his fifth win, where pines blocked his view of the green.

Clyde Wright, Pete Cimino and Minnie Rojas, who pitched for the Angels before Turner took over in the eighth, Turner suffered his second defeat in three decisions.

Dave Boswell set the Angels down on four hits in gaining his eighth victory in the opener. The Twins scored four runs in the seventh inning and broke a 1-1 tie.

Continued on Page 14

UMBRELLA-BEARING CROWD CIRCLES 11TH GREEN AT QUINNESSET AS STATE AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP FINAL NEARS END.

—Journal-Bulletin Photo by DAVID LAMONTAGNE

Bosox Beat Tigers and Tie Them for Third

By HAROLD RICH
Journal-Bulletin Staff Writer

Boston — Tony Conigliaro made a big splash with a third-inning, three-run homer and taking that as their cue, the Boston Red Sox cavorted to a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers and a tie for third place with the Tigers in the American League.

The homer was one of two by the Sox. Left fielder George Scott, clouted the other with the bases empty in the seventh and thereby reached a milestone. The homer was his 21st of the season, topping by one his previous career high in 1965.

Conigliaro, though, was more meaningful, considering that it provided the impetus for the triumph—and it was more entertaining. It was a typical Conigliaro clout-duster.

The ball "cleared" the edge of the left-field wall, plunked into a puddle on the wall's catwalk, made a splash and tickled the Sox catcher.

The homer was recorded in a five-run inning against the Tigers' starter, Joe Sparrano. The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned. They loaded the bases on a single by Smith to left, a walk to Ryan and a bunt single by Andrews then grounded to the first baseman.

the rest of his three hits in the game, a single to right.

After Mike Ryan had singled, Smith bunted to the left of the mound. Sparrano's throw to third, trying for a force out, was wild.

Sparrano, meanwhile, had moved to second. Both he and Andrews advanced a base on the right of the flag pole, in the second inning. The other run, in the fourth, was unearned.

One of the runs was a leadoff homer by Willie Horton into the center-field fence, just to the right of the flag pole, in the second inning. The other run, in the fourth, was unearned.

The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned. They loaded the bases on a single by Smith to left, a walk to Ryan and a bunt single by Andrews then grounded to the first baseman.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

the rest of his three hits in the game, a single to right.

After Mike Ryan had singled, Smith bunted to the left of the mound. Sparrano's throw to third, trying for a force out, was wild.

Sparrano, meanwhile, had moved to second. Both he and Andrews advanced a base on the right of the flag pole, in the second inning. The other run, in the fourth, was unearned.

One of the runs was a leadoff homer by Willie Horton into the center-field fence, just to the right of the flag pole, in the second inning. The other run, in the fourth, was unearned.

The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned. They loaded the bases on a single by Smith to left, a walk to Ryan and a bunt single by Andrews then grounded to the first baseman.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

the rest of his three hits in the game, a single to right.

After Mike Ryan had singled, Smith bunted to the left of the mound. Sparrano's throw to third, trying for a force out, was wild.

Sparrano, meanwhile, had moved to second. Both he and Andrews advanced a base on the right of the flag pole, in the second inning. The other run, in the fourth, was unearned.

One of the runs was a leadoff homer by Willie Horton into the center-field fence, just to the right of the flag pole, in the second inning. The other run, in the fourth, was unearned.

The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned. They loaded the bases on a single by Smith to left, a walk to Ryan and a bunt single by Andrews then grounded to the first baseman.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

the rest of his three hits in the game, a single to right.

After Mike Ryan had singled, Smith bunted to the left of the mound. Sparrano's throw to third, trying for a force out, was wild.

Sparrano, meanwhile, had moved to second. Both he and Andrews advanced a base on the right of the flag pole, in the second inning. The other run, in the fourth, was unearned.

One of the runs was a leadoff homer by Willie Horton into the center-field fence, just to the right of the flag pole, in the second inning. The other run, in the fourth, was unearned.

The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned. They loaded the bases on a single by Smith to left, a walk to Ryan and a bunt single by Andrews then grounded to the first baseman.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

the rest of his three hits in the game, a single to right.

After Mike Ryan had singled, Smith bunted to the left of the mound. Sparrano's throw to third, trying for a force out, was wild.

Sparrano, meanwhile, had moved to second. Both he and Andrews advanced a base on the right of the flag pole, in the second inning. The other run, in the fourth, was unearned.

One of the runs was a leadoff homer by Willie Horton into the center-field fence, just to the right of the flag pole, in the second inning. The other run, in the fourth, was unearned.

The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned. They loaded the bases on a single by Smith to left, a walk to Ryan and a bunt single by Andrews then grounded to the first baseman.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Sparrano was removed in favor of a pinch hitter in the fourth and Pat DeJohn succeeded him. The Sox extracted three runs from DeJohn in the bottom of the fourth, though only one was earned.

The right-hander, who had started the game with a 9-2 record, retired the first six batters he faced before Reggie Smith led off the third with a single.

Twins Defeat Angels Twice

Two Victories Lift Minnesota Within Half-Game of Lead

MINNEAPOLIS, Pa. (UPI)—Rich Rollins hit Ken Turner's first pitch in the bottom of the ninth inning into the left-field stands yesterday and highlighted a Minnesota comeback that gave the Twins a 7-5 victory and a sweep of the double-header with the California Angels.

The Twins won the opener, 8-1, behind Dave Boswell and moved to within a half game of the league-leading Chicago White Sox.

A gallery of 43,419, the largest regular-season crowd in the Twins' seven-year history, saw their home-run heroes supplied by Bob Allison, who hit one in each game.

Allison stroked his 11th, three-run, pinch-hit blast in the first off Turner and his 12th in the seventh inning off the night cap with a man on and tied the score at 6-6.

At Worthington, the Twins' fifth pitcher, blanked the Angels on two hits over the last two innings for his fifth win, where pines blocked his view of the green.

Clyde Wright, Pete Cimino and Minnie Rojas, who pitched for the Angels before Turner took over in the eighth, Turner suffered his second defeat in three decisions.

Dave Boswell set the Angels down on four hits in gaining his eighth victory in the opener. The Twins scored four runs in the seventh inning and broke a 1-1 tie.

Continued on Page 14

The Reformed Demon

Billy Martin's One Reason for Twins' New Rampage

By JOSEPH BURSO
© 1967 New York Times News Service
New York — Alfred Manuel Martin's name, but if, you just called him that, a few years back you might have earned a smart karate chop over your trouble. It used to be wise to smile even when calling him just plain Billy Martin. But now the onetime helmsman of the New York Yankees is a 39-year-old man with a wife and a two-year-old son, smoke a pipe, tends tomatoes and never draws. Well, hardly ever draws.

He can be seen most afternoons or evenings in the third-base coaching box for the Minnesota